Summary

I am an undergraduate at the University of Benin, Nigeria. Currently studying Computer Engineering in my final year. I have 1+ years of experience in Front-end development.

I am a fast learner and love learning new things (currently learning algorithm and data structures) and achieving what I aim for with enthusiasm, with hopes of building myself as a front end developer.

I am able and ready to rise up to any challenge thrown at me.

I want to use what I have learnt and will learn to improve myself and my country if possible and also be an inspiration to women that want to venture into tech.
